Studio Sharing Opportunities

Many of our studio residents are looking for makers to share their studios. It's a great way to become part of the Craft Centre Community, and build your business in an established retail environment.

Space to make and sell your work in one of our established studios

Flexible options for part time working

Learn from our established makers

A great way to develop your creative practice without the commitment to a full time studio.

Interested?

If you're interest in our studio or sharing opportunities, please send a brief introduction to your business along with 6 images of work to contactus@craftanddesign.com.

We will then get in touch with more information on furthering your application.

We look forward to hearing from you soon!
